Raising the profile of waste management for a cleaner, healthier planet.
Raising the profile of waste management for a cleaner, healthier planet

Why is ISWA specifically targeting mayors and municipalities? ISWA’s mission is to promote and develop sustainable waste management worldwide, to create a cleaner-healthier planet. To achieve this, ISWA’s know-how and best practices need to be accessible to decision makers and those who influence policy on regional and national levels.

Over the coming years, ISWA will organise events and workshops specifically aimed at mayors and municipalities and will tailor it’s knowledge and projects into accessible, executive summaries for decision makers.

The overall objective is to raise the profile of ISWA and sustainable waste management to the highest level by engaging mayors and municipal leaders.
ISWA's ambitious vision is a world with as little waste as possible and in which waste no longer has a negative impact on health or the environment. Waste should be reused and reduced to a minimum and then collected, recycled and treated properly. Residual matter should be disposed of in a safely engineered manner, ensuring a clean and healthy environment.

All people on the planet should have the right to enjoy an environment with clean air, earth, seas and soils. To be able to achieve this, we need to work together to improve waste and resource management approaches and practices on technical, behavioural and governance levels.
